FLOOD CLAIMS 23 IN COLORADO

Hundreds Homeless in Colorado With Property Damage in Millions

TRAFFIC PARALYZED

Road and Railway Bridges and Power Line [illegible]pt Away by Torrents

By The Associated Press

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., May 31—Twenty three persons were reported dead and missing today as flood burdened mountain streams lost their thundering menace of death and destruction. Hundreds of persons were homeless and the property damage in Colorado Springs, Pueblo and two small villages north of here was estimated at hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Emerging from a night of terror and its most disastrous flood in 75 years the harassed area took stock by daylight and saw that this eastern slope city was the focal point of the waters' attack. Homes were swept away, highway and railway bridges gone and communication, power and transportation paralyzed.

No Deaths at Pueblo

Pueblo, scene of the 1920 flood disaster, escaped with some property damage but no deaths. Denver's fears that turbulent Cherry creek would rampage this morning were allayed as the crest of a black torrent roared into the South Platte river without flooding the city.

Greatest concern today was centered on the still isolated community of Iowa and its neighbor Elbert from which little news had emerged but which suffered the brunt of two huge torrents.

Efforts were being made today to reach Kiowa by airplane, by horseback and on foot. Bridges on all roads approaching the village were wrecked. Communication lines were down. There is no nearby landing field for airplanes.

12 Persons on Death List

Twelve persons, 10 of them unidentified, were on the death list here. The known dead are Mrs Emma B Clark, 55, and Lee Cimino, 30, of Ivywood, a suburb.

Five other deaths were charged to floods which swept northeastern Colorado earlier in the week.

Six persons were reported missing here.

They were Mr and Mrs Herman M West and their two daughter and Esther Towsley and Mrs Oscar White, 30.

Fears for the safety of passengers of two automobiles reported overturned in washout near [illegible] were dispelled this morning. J A Gerl, telegraph operator at Orin Junction, four miles from the point where the car left the road, said the ma

44 FLIERS KILLED

Troops Called To Dig Into Debris for Injured and Dead.

By The Associated Press

KARACHI, India, May 31—An estimate that 20,000 persons were killed early today in Quetta alone by the earthquake which wrecked northwestern India was contained tonight in a wireless message from the Quetta wireless station.

The message was one of the first complete [illegible] to reach here since the [illegible] shock wrecked all land communication lines throughout the district.

Before the message arrived, unofficial and unconfirmed estimates had placed the death toll as high as 30,000.

Injured Up in Hundreds

Quetta reported that the number of injured was thus far estimated only as in the hundreds.

Earlier reports had told of the royal air force garrison being badly hit with a death of 44 men. This last message said that most of the other garrisons of soldiers had escaped the most serious damage and the various troops had been ordered into service digging through the debris of the city and extricating the injured.

The earthquake hit around 3 a m with three violent shocks devastating the countryside around Quetta which is in the northern frontier.

Rescue work was underway with dispatch according to the meagre advices trickling through the broken communication lines.

Conservative reports here and at Simla, the summer capital of India, said there were at least 1,000 persons killed in Quetta and that the village was laid in ruins.

Although the offices of the governor general and the staff college and military headquarters escaped serious damage most of the other sections of the town including the thickly populated native districts were destroyed by the shocks.

The airmen reported killed included Flying Officer Charles Pay for.

TWO MORE IN MAYOR'S RACE

T M Cunningham, Republican, and Gene Hill Democrat To Be Candidates.

OPPOSITION FOR BOLIN

Six Now in Field With At Least One More Likely To Run

Two more entries were made today in the primary mayoralty race, one of them taking opposition to Mayor Clarence A Bolin in his campaign for renomination.

One of the new candidates is L Gene Hill, who will oppose Mayor Bolin in the Democratic primary fight. The other is T M (Tim) Cunningham, whose announcement that he will seek the Republican nomination assured a four way fight for the mayoralty nomination of that party.

Both of the new candidates are Marion business men and are making their first bids for political office.

Mr Hill, 45 years of age, is owner of the Gene Hill Fair Price filling station at 135 Davids street and former district manager of the Pure Oil Co here. He has been active in civic affairs, having been voted a month ago the Junior Chamber of Commerce's choice as the most valuable citizen of 1934 on the basis of civic activities.

To Head Rotary Club

He will become president of Marion Rotary club in July and is an officer in several other civic groups. He and Mrs Hill are parents of one daughter and two sons. They live at 340 Bane avenue.

Mr Cunningham, who is 66 years of age, recently rounded out his fiftieth year as a plumber, most of his half century of work in that field having been spent in Marion. He still is active in that trade, operating his business at 179 McWilliams court. He lives at 808 East Church street. He is the father of one daughter and two sons.

Neither of the new candidates had lengthy platforms in mind today. "I'd try to do the fair thing if I am elected," Mr Cunningham said. Mr Hill's comments about his platform were that he favored a common sense administration.

W. H. WINTRINGHAM DIES SUDDENLY HERE

Marion Tailor Drops Dead While Returning To Shop from Home

William H Wintringham, 72, well known Marion tailor, dropped dead today at 1:45 p m in an alley at the side of the Marion Baking Co as he was returning to his shop from his home at 519 Cherry street.

Employes at the bakery saw him fall but before they could reach him he had gotten up and was attempting to walk. At their suggestion he sat down in the alley doorway of the building. A few seconds later he fell over dead.

Mr Wintringham complained of not feeling well this morning, his close friends said, and at 11 a m left his shop. He had lunch with his wife, Mrs Cora Wintringham, who is employed in the art department at the Uhler-Phillips store at the former delicatessen and when he left there said he was going home to rest a short time.

Mrs Wintringham, notified of her husband's sudden death a short time before she returned to work, is in a state of collapse at the home.

The C E Curtis Co ambulance was called to remove Mr Wintringham to the hospital but he was dead when placed in the ambulance and the body was taken to the funeral home on East Center street.

SEEK SUSPECT IN KIDNAP CASE

Ed Bentz, Last of Bates Gang Linked to Abduction of Timber Man's Son

U S STEPS IN TODAY

Seven "Days of Grace" Provided by Lindbergh Law Now Over

(Copyright 1935 by The Associated Press)

TACOMA, May 31—Ed Bentz, one time associate of Albert Bates and Machine Gun Kelly, was disclosed today as the latest suspect in the George Weyerhaeuser kidnaping.

A federal agent made the disclosure with the remark: "We would like to talk to Bentz."

Even before the agent dropped the remark it was known authorities here have theorized over the possible connection of the 40 year old Bentz with the disappearance of the curly haired nine year old son of the wealthy timber and logging dynasty.

Believed Linked to Karpis

Some of them believe that Bentz, last of the Bates gang, may have joined with the remnants of the Karpis mob to stage the Weyerhaeuser $200,000 ransom plot. Bentz is a former Tacoman. The Karpis gang engineered the $200,000 Edward G Bremer snatch in St Paul which had striking similarities to the kidnaping here. The Weyerhaeuser interests are centered in Tacoma and St Paul.

Although Alvin Karpis and his henchman, Harry Campbell, are fugitives from the Bremer case, Tacoma authorities apparently took little stock in the statement of Mr and Mrs Clarence G Reed, Tacoma apartment managers, that a man resembling Volney Davis of the Karpis mob rented an apartment here Saturday and left with a woman a few hours later.

With the Lindbergh law's seven days of grace expiring at noon today, the department of justice agents were prepared to step into the Weyerhaeuser case and act.

Presumed Slain

U S Attorney J Charles Dennis of this federal district said that under the law George is presumed to have been slain or to have been taken across the state lines. If he still is unreturned after seven days the kidnapers then face the gallows or life imprisonment.

Until the seven days expire the federals are interested in the case through the mail fraud act which sets a minimum of 20 years and $5,000 fine for each extortion letter sent through the mail, Dennis said.

Belief the Weyerhaeuser boy will be returned to his parents alive

House Members Urge Rewriting of Constitution

Possibility of Convention To Be Discussed at Meeting in Next Few Days

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 31—A group of house members was said today to be preparing to assemble immediately to canvass the possibility of holding a convention to rewrite the Constitution.

Rep Maverick (Democrat) of Texas, who is planning to carry the issue to the nation in an address, said today that Rep Keller, Democrat of Illinois, present chairman of the group, would call the meeting in the next few days.

Describing the rulings of the supreme court against NRA and the Frazier-Lemke farm moratorium act as forcing the country back to a rule of fang and claw, the Texan asserted:

"Legislation can't go on forever being thwarted by the supreme court. The question is are we going to go about it in an orderly way to obtain proper changes in government to insure our having a decent country to live in."

He said the court either ought to be deprived of the power to invalidate acts of congress or some system should be established whereby any act held unconstitutional would become constitutional if repassed by congress.

Maverick told reporters that he and others in what is known as the liberal camp considered the convention necessary because the Constitution is not in keeping with the need of the times.

A constitutional convention, he said, could be put through in a hurry "if the American people would understand that it was a convention to adjust their economic welfare and set up an economic system that's fair and if they could know that special interests wouldn't control it."

The services will be closed by the playing of the national anthem by the Eagles band and the sounding of taps. Rev Davis will pronounce the benediction.

PARIS TURNS TO HERRIOT AGAIN

Former Premier Likely To Be Called After Flandin Government's Downfall.

BOUISSON UNSUCCESSFUL

Gold Flowing From Bank in Ceaseless Stream During Political Crisis.

(Copyright 1935 by The Associated Press)

PARIS, May 31—With Premier Pierre Etienne Flandin forced out by an overwhelming parliamentary vote of lack of confidence and with the premier-designate, Fernand Bouisson, apparently unable to form a cabinet, political quarters said today that Edouard Herriot probably would be called upon again to serve as premier.

Herriot, who already has held the premiership three times, would be called upon to face the financial emergency which resulted in the chamber of deputies voting against Flandin 353 to 202 early this morning. Herriot himself was overthrown after four days as premier in 1926 when the collapse of the franc caused Raymond Poincare to be called to the rescue.

Asked To Form Ministry

Bouisson, 60-year-old president of the chamber of deputies, was asked by President Lebrun to form a government succeeding that of Flandin.

Bouisson undertook the task against his own wishes but made such demands for coalition support that friends said he expected to fail.

While the government crisis ruled, gold flowed out from the Bank of France in a ceaseless stream. Gold buyers lined up at the bank's counters by the score and carried away bars of the metal, sometimes wrapped in newspapers. A vast quantity of gold already has been withdrawn during the past week.

Cabinet Hope Lost

The difficulties Bouisson encountered removed all hope for construction of a new cabinet overnight.

The premier designate insisted he must have full powers and that former Premier Edouard Herriot enter the government.

The Socialists, on whom Bouisson depended for support, refused to participate in a coalition government.

The Flandin cabinet was overthrown early today after the former premier made a futile personal appeal for approval of his program to defend the franc through measures promulgated by decree.

After his appeal Flandin was assisted to an anteroom where he collapsed from his exertions.

CLAIMS LIQUOR CONTROL ENDED

Declares Question Raised as to Legality of AAA and Stock Commission.

FIGHT IS STATE VS U S.

Believed Studying Possibility of New Laws To Attain Ends Desired

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 31—President Roosevelt today accepted the supreme court NRA decision as focusing the issue whether the federal government or the 48 states shall have control over national social and economic conditions.

It raised the question whether the agricultural adjustment administration and the securities commission were legal, he said, and meant the end of the federal alcohol control administration as now constituted.

Asked if the issue did not point directly to a constitutional amendment to empower congress to deal with national commercial conditions, he said not necessarily.

Considers Other Laws

He did not elaborate but apparently was exploring possibilities of other laws to reach new deal objectives, laws that would be upheld by the highest court.

As to the AAA, he said the question now before the country was whether the federal government has any valid power to regulate crop production.

The issue was up to the people, he also indicating an expectation that it would be fought determinedly in the years immediately ahead.

Gravity was in his voice as he sat behind his desk for more than an hour and a half in conference with representatives of the press that crowded into the warm room.

The implication of Monday's epochal decision, he said, as he flicked cigaret ashes and scanned faces before him, removed any federal jurisdiction over such major human activities as farming, manufacturing, mining and construction. That he had been in serious reflection over the historic significance of this week's developments was

In his view the unanimous supreme court interpretation of interstate commerce takes the nation back to the horse and buggy stage of 1789 when the interstate commerce clause was put into the constitution.

Voicing the hope that the spirit of the voided codes for fair practices would be maintained on a voluntary basis, the President intimated he was ready to act next week in an attempt to counter results flowing from the court ruling. The nature of his plans was withheld.

As to pending cases, which are undefined, he said there would be no announcement today or tomorrow. Presumably this referred to cases on the NRA dockets at the time it was outlawed.

SANTA MONICA, Calif, May 31—Our state assembly is having a terrible fight. There is 27 EPICS (eliminate poverty in California) the Sinclair ticket. That's out of a membership of 80 in the lower house.

Well the fight is just among these 27. It's a bill to stop all these unemployed that's flocking into the state. (It passed the lower house.)

Some EPICS say they can eliminate the poverty in the state, but they can't eliminate all the poverty that comes in. Others say that one state can't bar people of other states.

All of which gets back to my plan that is of being able to wire the supreme court and ask them; they reply with a night letter, and the whole thing is settled once and for all.

BULLS RETAIN GRIP ON STOCKS

Equities Steady Despite Dark Outlook for Gold Nations in Europe.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, May 31—While the stock market today was still confronted by foreign and domestic problems the majority of traders and investors were in more of a buying than a selling mood.

The battle of the gold standard nations to preserve their currencies did not aid the bullish forces and Washington's revised new deal program was being awaited with some anxiety.

A rally of grains and cotton helped to brighten the speculative picture. Gold exchanges were soft and sterling advanced sharply against the dollar. Bonds were rather listless.

Scattered utilities, metals and oils were among the firmer equities. Issues up fractions to around two points included American Telephone, Commonwealth & Southern Preferred, Public Service of New Jersey, U. S. Smelting, Howe Sound, McIntyre Porcupine, Dome, Standard Oils of New Jersey and California, American Crystal Sugar preferred, Macy, National Distillers, American Can, Allied Chemical, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem and American Woolen preferred.

Santa Fe and Southern Pacific were slightly better but many of the rails were unchanged. Inland Steels, Montgomery Ward, Case, U. S. Industrial Alcohol and International Harvester pointed downward. Cuba-American Sugar preferred dropped about 5 points.

The seriousness of the French situation was exemplified by the statement of the Brank of France, as of May 24, showing a loss of 3,166,000,000 francs in gold during the week. Since the rush of withdrawals started around March 29, the bank has lost more than $858,000,000 in gold.

Divergent views were expressed in New York banking quarters as to the ability of the continental gold bloc to cling to the metallic base. Some foreign observers believed France would be able to hold out in the event internal political pressure is lessened.

Another step to protect the guilder was taken by the Bank of the Netherlands when it raised its discount rate from 4 to 5 per cent.

ROOSEVELT OPINION SENDS WHEAT DOWN

Hint of 36-Cent Level Attached to President's Statement on NRA.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, May 31—A bearish construction placed in some quarters on President Roosevelt's references today to the supreme court NRA decision led to late setbacks of wheat prices.

The President was reported as having indicated that the supreme court's opinion, if it blocked any federal control of agricultural production, might result in 36 cent wheat and 5 cent cotton under present world conditions.

No market fireworks attended the monthly settlement of May corn contracts, despite recent talk of a threatened squeeze.

Ohio [illegible] making sense of the legislature's antics. It has no choice [illegible] unfavorable [illegible]

One of them is that the legislative branch of state government deserves all the doubt which is being spoken by critics who believe its present form is out of date. The [illegible] of the current session has furnished fuel for the movement to reorganize the general assembly by eliminating one house.

Another conclusion which should be interesting to legislators who voted this session to double their salaries is that the money in large part is being wasted. Senators and representatives who cannot give at least an appearance of orderly procedure are in no position to demand more money for doing less.

The third and most important conclusion concerns the length of tolerance which the state should grant an inept legislative body. It is easy to laugh off the antics of representatives and senators behaving like mischievous children. Up to a certain point there is amusement in the great game of partisanship. That point seems to have been passed. Ohio sees nothing funny these days in what goes on and doesn't go on in Columbus. The playful fellows who are putting on such a jolly show seem too amused by their own endeavors to notice the noose settling around their collective neck.

Get Set.

Months ago a certain Democratic senator appeared briefly in a Santa Claus costume to announce there would be no new taxes enacted by congress in 1935 and that probably there would be some reductions in existing tax rates. He caused a mild furore.

It seemed too good to be true and it was. Nothing has been said about the matter since. The time has come now for congressmen to do some serious thinking about taxes and they are not being guided by the roseate promises made so long ago.

Naturally they would like to reduce taxes. They also would like to spend more money. The two simply don't go together. Therefore congressmen are becoming reconciled to the fact no reductions can be made and eventually they will become reconciled to the fact that some new taxes are necessary, particularly if they add to expenses.

An imposing list of taxes expires next June 30. Among them are taxes on gasoline, matches, lubricating oil, electrical energy, toilet preparations, furs, jewelry, radio sets, mechanical refrigerators, sporting goods, admissions, chewing gum, telephone, telegraph and radio messages, oil by pipe line and bond transfer, and deeds of conveyances.

On July 31 taxes on trucks, passenger automobiles and motorcycles, tires, automobile parts and inner tubes expire. The time is coming when congress must decide whether to continue such taxes or let them lapse. Because there are only two ways to handle the problem—reduce expenses or continue the taxes—it seems perfectly safe to predict all the taxes will be continued with some more added probably. It seems advisable therefore to get set in plenty of time for the surprise that will come when taxes don't decrease, if Americans can be [illegible] by a thing so common.

When Harper Sibley, new president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, appealed Tuesday to employers to make no immediate changes in hour or wage schedules he was voicing an assumption as well as a piece of good advice.

It is difficult to make sudden changes in business. That was proved in 1933 and 1934 when employers were trying to meet the conditions of the recovery act. Many changes were made, however, and it will be difficult to abandon them.

Eventually, business will readjust itself [illegible] corrections [illegible] be a slow process [illegible] as to be [illegible] at large [illegible] than [illegible] the [illegible] On [illegible] party [illegible] prompt [illegible]

Restraint

The [illegible] the supreme [illegible] three actions of the [illegible] program [illegible] the firm [illegible] of the late William E. Humphrey as federal trade commissioner.

Collectively the court's three decisions were a manifestation of the national government's [illegible] to place restraint on an administrative group. That [illegible] is resident in the court by virtue of the standing it has gained in popular confidence. Without confidence the court's opinion would be worthless. As in Germany, Italy and Russia, administrators would not need to tolerate judgment from an outside group.

Some members of the administration are openly resentful of the supreme court's restraint. They do not recognize its right to rule against their principles even though public acceptance of the court's right to do so forces them to abide by its decision. The sincerity of such persons is not questioned. They believe they have the secret of a better order.

The supreme court, it must be remembered, has not attacked their principles. It merely has ruled that the methods employed to make the principles effective cannot be harmonized with constitutional law. There is a constant tendency to ignore that fundamental point in the court's procedure. Its functions is not to give judgment on what the legislative branch is trying to do, but only on the means employed to do it.

Perhaps codification of business is essential to the welfare of the United States. If so there are constitutional methods of doing it. While a majority of citizens continue to believe in the Constitution any administration which attempts to employ unconstitutional methods will lose prestige when it is overruled by the supreme court, the Constitution's guardian.

The court's unanimous agreement on the unconstitutionality of delegation of code power to the President is a pointed reminder that at no time, not even during the hectic 100 days of the special session of congress in 1933, was there doubt on the point in the minds of experienced constitutional lawyers. President Roosevelt's administration committed itself frankly to an experiment in stretching the fundamental law of the union to satisfy its requirements for new deal action. The supreme court's rebuff, though administered to laws, thus falls directly on the administration. It has been forced to recognize restraint which it was unwilling to recognize of its own volition.

Behind The News In

Washington And Wall Street

BY PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, May 31.—The proof of the NRA pudding lies buried in the government's own monthly business chart. In it you may trace precisely what it has accomplished in the way of equalizing employment and wages in relation to industrial production during the 21 months of its existence.

The NRA became operative in September 1933. At that time factory production was 81 per cent normal, employment 78 per cent, wages 61.

It became inoperative this first week of May. At this time factory production is authoritatively estimated at 84 per cent normal, employment 81 per cent, wages 68.5 per cent.

You need not be a mathematician to figure out that production now is just where it was when the NRA started, employment is roughly 5 per cent better and wages 10 per cent better.

Purpose

The importance of this is fundamental in measuring NRA. Hardly a memory is good enough to recall now that its original objective was to equalize wages and employment with production. It was started because manufacturers were cutting wages and firing men while requiring the retained employes to produce more. This objective has been lost sight of, at least publicly.

Gen. Johnson turned chiseler chaser and instituted some innovations which even he had not thought of at the time he helped to write the original NRA law.

His basic problem is disclosed by the figures for the July preceding the application of the NRA codes. For that month production was 100 but employment remained unimproved at 72 per cent and payrolls were down to the unbelievable figure of 50.8 per cent.

Perhaps some NRA enthusiast would rather take the July figure for the purpose of measuring NRA accomplishments. They are then able to claim a better showing for the Blue Eagle in that way, but of course basically the July situation was artificial.

You may trace for yourself the pre-NRA business situation and the fluctuations since its inauguration in the chart which follows. All figures are official except those of the last month which are unofficially estimated.

Each figure represents the percentage of normal existing at the times stated. Seasonal fluctuations are eliminated. Normal is the monthly averages from 1923 to 1925, inclusive, except for the price index which is based on 1926.

Prospects

Few economic authorities will be foolhardy enough to make any promises about the next few [illegible] The situation seems to [illegible] in the hands of the [illegible] The outcome depends on how the new deal reads just the details of its economic policies.

In general, aside from the all important Washington situation, there is nothing particularly significant in the existing business condition, nothing to be pessimistic about, nothing to cheer about. Some authorities expect a boom, others are anticipating a milder improvement.

Production

The failure of industrial production to measure up to seasonal expectation may be traced to several special factors. The curtailment of textile production is one. Another is the fact that coal consumers stocked up in expectation of a strike April 1 and coal loadings have been [illegible] since the strike failed to materialize. Lumber output was cut by a recent strike in the northwest.

The level of other manufacturing generally continued at above normal. Plate glass, tobacco and shoes showed some increases.

The bellwether automobile industry was strong in April but fell off in May due to the strike. The output for one week in May was 117. It dropped to 87 in the strike week. Steel figure shortly to be announced for May will probably establish a new low for the year. Textiles have lately been showing some few signs of life. A substantial increase has been noted in rayon, cotton is slightly better, wool activity is keeping up. (Copyright 1935, by Paul Mallon.)

BY JAMES McMULLIN

NEW YORK, May 31—Secretary Morgenthau's experiment of selling $100,000,000 of bonds to the highest bidders—instead of at a set price—has a double purpose. One is to show that the treasury is not dependent on the big banks—nor on federal reserve open market purchases for its financing. The fact that small bids are to be given preference is the tipoff. Small banks, insurance companies and individual investors will head the parade.

As a show its success is assured. Here [illegible] subscriptions at high figure will look very pretty. Wall Street critics complain that a hundred million is hardly a fair test of the theory when there are billions in sight to be raised—but nobody else will bother much about that. New Yorkers [illegible] speculate as to whether the institutions which cooperate best by bidding high will enjoy a favored status with the Treasury hereafter by a new form of log-rolling. They're not certain what form favoritism could take but on principle they view with alarm. Some bids were undoubtedly figured with this possibility in mind.

The second object of the move is to determine whether the new method can be applied successfully to the June financing—when Mr. Morgenthau will want to raise half a billion and a billion of new funds. If it can it will probably mean an cheaper money but the Treasury would [illegible] tight—and am the fear [illegible] Mr. M[illegible] cap.

Speed

A compromise is being shaped [illegible] bill which will give [illegible] an amendment [illegible] of 3 [illegible] members of the [illegible] Reserve [illegible] from the reserve board.

The compromise is prompted by the administration's wish to get the bill passed and out of the way and the bankers' fear that if the issue isn't settled now it will crop up again in a worse form. Unless a further hitch develops.

Leon

One element in the work relief wage scale has northern manufacturers on their ears. The cotton textile code—after prolonged argument—established a wage spread of [illegible] per cent between northern and southern mills. Now comes the federal government and sets up a maximum differential of 25 per cent. In one classification it amounts to more than 100 per cent.

With this official precedent all branches of southern industry are expected to jump for a similar advantage. The supreme court's slaying of NRA will make it easier for them to get away with it. And where does that leave the north? Any attempt to match cut for cut would lead to serious labor trouble. Workers are much better organized to resist. The [illegible] in this section—and will undoubtedly do so to the limit. Yet if northerners fail to cut the face ruin from far cheaper competition. This situation is especially acute in textiles and coal.

Confidence

The New York aldermanic investigation of relief—designed to show up its defects—unwittingly did relief administrators a good turn. The committee raised a fine crop of headlines about boondoggling and such, but was utterly unable to make any serious charges stick. [illegible] news when a graft-hunting expedition can not find graft to expose in this metropolis.

Public confidence in the state and city relief administration is striking. It's quite a testimonial to the calibre of the people running the show and also to a succession of New York governors who built up public faith by a consistent policy of integrity.

Simple

New York observers remark that Americans just must have their optimism. Comment runs that if Major (Boom is Here) Angas had written about "The Coming American Debacle" he would still be twiddling his thumbs in a London broker's office instead of netting commissions estimated at $10,000 a week.

The experience of a small but well-informed advisory service bears this out. It did very well as long as its prophecies were cheery. But it turned mildly bearish a couple of months ago and has lost subscribers so rapidly since it will probably have to quit business. Its disillusioned owner remarks: "The intelligence test applied by the American investor is very simple. If you're bullish you're a distinguished economist. If you're bearish you're a [illegible] informed bum."

CITY PAYS TRIBUTE TO WAR VETERANS

ment in Rome It seems that we re all unknown soldiers now he said A solid round of applause greeted his comment

If the dictators and those who rule the destiny of Europe s great nations could counsel with those unknown comrades I believe the world could come to a better understanding and that universal peace would have a better chance to prevail he said

In referring to America s entry into the great war the speaker declared that if we learned one lesson— to keep free of damnable European quarrels in the future — our participation will not have been wrong

What of value has Europe given to America? It has forced communism into our midst inflicted Fascism on us and driven a wedge of Nazism into this country We want only one ism —Americanism

Mr Herbert touched upon our policy toward immigration and toward aliens declaring there are 5 000 000 unnaturalized aliens in the United States usurping jobs and federal relief from deserving veterans and Americans Those who refuse to become naturalized citizens have no place here he asserted in urging a more strict policy in the treatment of aliens

Points to Class Feeling

Reverting to a discussion of present government domestic policy Herbert pointed to a rising class distinction among the American people There is the farming class the laboring class the manufacturing class and the banking class—all calling each other names and striving to take advantage of the other he said It is time to return to the Constitution and make our problems a common one instead of pitting classes of workers against each other he asserted

Mr Herbert turned his discussion to the advocation of preparedness and a strong national defense against the eventual foreign invader and against invasion from within

Let us not limit our foresight to the outside invader he said but purge our country and our great universities of the flood of communist propaganda being spread throughout the country by the emissaries of foreign powers

Before closing Mr Herbert paid tribute to the people of those nations which were our allies in the World war They are kindly people much as you and I and their problems are common with ours He pointed to the 15 000 graves of American soldiers in the Argonne Forest sector the 5 000 graves at St Mihiel the 2 500 at Chateau Thierry the 2 300 in Belgium and the 4 000 in England

The fathers and mothers of France Belgium and England are passing between those white crosses today and placing flowers and wreaths on the resting places of our heroic dead he said in pointing to the observance of American Memorial day by the peoples of Europe They know what those boys mean to us and our grief is their grief

Recites Two Poems

Mr Herbert closed his address with a recitation of the poems Van Dyke s America For Me and Mc Crae s In Flanders Field

The memorial services were opened with a brief message from Commander Layton thanking the citizens of Marion for their cooperation in honoring the memory of their former comrades

Following the G A R veterans talk T F Andrews took over the chairmanship After an [illegible] of old time [illegible] by the Eagles lodge band [illegible] Rev Father Edward H Summe John Roth read Gen John A Logan s order of [illegible] designating May 30 as a memorial day for Civil war veterans

Are you serving a MINUS MEAL?

Many wives, unknowingly serve "minus meals" The food is good, and well cooked But it has little or no "bulk"—needed to promote regular habits

"Minus meals" frequently cause common constipation due to insufficient bulk in the diet Headaches loss of appetite and dull, spiritless days too often follow

Correct the "minus meal" by serving Kellogg's All-Bran regularly. Its gentle "bulk" does not break down in the body as much as the fiber in fruits and vegetables So it is more effective All-Bran also supplies vitamin B and iron

Certainly it is safer to use this natural food in place of patent medicines Two tablespoonfuls daily are usually sufficient Chronic cases, with each meal If relief is not obtained, see your doctor

All-Bran remains effective with continued use Serve as a cereal with milk or cream or cook into muffins breads waffles, etc Get the red and green package at your grocer's Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek

TO Celebrate OUR 30TH BIRTHDAY

BINCO and BAR JOE LABELS WILL BE REDEEMED for CASH . . . . . .

This year marks our 30th Anniversary . . . three decades of service to the people of this community as suppliers of fine quality foods. A 30th Birthday calls for a gala celebration . . . an expression of appreciation to those who have supported BINCO and BAR JOE Products and encouraged us to maintain high quality standards.

To fittingly observe the 30th Jubilee and make it possible for us to thank everyone in the community we have arranged a plan whereby those institutions who contributed so much to the welfare and happiness of the people shall be benefitted.

Beginning June 1, 1935 and continuing until June 1, 1936, our Anniversary Year will be celebrated. During this time BINCO and BAR JOE labels and cartons will be redeemed for cash. The cash award will be paid to any church, school, charitable organization, lodge, patriotic society and civic club.

How to save labels . . .

As you make purchases of BINCO and BAR JOE brand products at your regular independent grocery store, take the label off the can. Cut the face off all paper cartons. Use the opening band and keys from Coffee cans. Remove bottle labels by soaking in water. When you have collected one hundred labels and emblems tie them together in a bundle and take them to the party in your church or organization who is supervising the label collections.

How to obtain cash for labels

For every hundred labels the Bindley Grocery Company will remit to the organization or church twenty five (25c) cents. This places a value of ¼c on each and every BINCO and BAR JOE label—think of it. How easy it will be for your church or organization to build up a tidy sum without having to ask anyone to contribute cash—just save the labels from the fine quality BINCO and BAR JOE foods and you are doing your part to help your favorite church or organization. In presenting labels for redemption be sure that they are assembled in bundles of 100 each. This will facilitate cash distribution on the part of the Bindley Grocery Company.

Get busy right away . . . call a meeting in your church or organization . . . appoint a secretary or committee on label collections. You'll be surprised how much money can be secured for the labels returned.

BY HELEN ROWLAND

THE SPINSTER ARRIVES

When a screen star gets up and publicly declares she has never been married and demands to be regarded as a spinster it raises single blessedness to a new high

The spinster has found her place in the sun (In fact it has been a long time since she was in the shade)

Many men have tried to mislay their wives and to pose as bachelors But Miss Mae West is probably the first woman on record who ever publicly put up a fight for the right to the title of spinster

It is high time that the spinster claimed her own She has been taking it on the chin from the near wits and the nit wits for quite a few centuries But in these days of woman's freedom and economic equality she sometimes has as much cause to be proud of her title as a bachelor is of his And as much reason to be grateful for her freedom

And have you ever observed the smug smile of self satisfaction on a man's face when you introduce him as a bachelor? Do [illegible] me that he would radiate such beaming self-complacency if [illegible] had introduced him as M[illegible] a married man? Just [illegible]

A bachelor regards himself as one of the lucky [illegible] who has escaped the [illegible] of matrimony and is still one of [illegible] Why then should a spinster [illegible] herself as a left [illegible] being

She doesn't She is one of the [illegible] and [illegible] has most of [illegible] can afford

The used to [illegible] marriage [illegible] a woman [illegible] [illegible] can [illegible] married woman who has [illegible] though [illegible] all [illegible]

No [illegible] a spinster [illegible] [illegible] and [illegible] that she [illegible] The [illegible] women like [illegible] Garden [illegible] chosen the single life and [illegible] the end

[illegible] spinster may be perfectly aware that the companionship of a happy marriage is a rare and precious thing she no longer feels that just getting a clutch on some masculine meal-ticket should fill her with a superiority complex

A smart and snappy spinster is as good—and sometimes quite as contented with herself—as a bachelor The spinster has arrived!

[illegible] tell [illegible] father's [illegible] play with [illegible] getting tired and lifting her [illegible] father to be taken [illegible] keeping off to [illegible] arms as he rocked her.

"I [illegible] when I [illegible] will finish the [illegible] I [illegible] spoiled by taking her [illegible] she whimpered. When [illegible] wakes I'll see that she isn't [illegible] stimulated"—she smiled ruefully at the phrase which had intrigued the imaginations of the boys with such ludicrously disastrous results.

Then he added quickly, "Or is your father coming back to see her? All rules go by the board where he is concerned."

No [illegible] still he wanted to have the memory of her going to sleep so confidingly in his arms.

Katherine nodded sapiently.

"I can well understand that feeling," she said. "He will have no sweeter memory. But anybody else who wants to catch a farewell glimpse of the baby—her father or her grandfather—will have to come to the nursery in the interval between her next waking and her going to sleep for the night.

Also their visits must be short and sweet. Heaven has sent this extra nap to me with a prospect of helping to get the baby in shape for the journey, and the other place isn't going to rob me of its benefits."

"Amen," I told her smiling, and then I went on to my own room for I still had one list to make for Katie before I should look for the boys. It took less than five minutes however and when I had finished I took it down to the kitchen and gave it to my faithful helper.

"Put these things into as small a space as possible, Katie," I told her, "and put in only enough for each for our first supper and breakfast. This is simply an emergency box for our use if we get there too late to get to the shops. I will get a quart of milk, a bottle of cream, a pound of butter and a dozen eggs at the last good shop we come to before dark of the second day. I think I have everything else here."

Katie Reviews List

Katie took the list and ran over its contents in a rapid monotone.

"Coffee, tea, cocoa, sugar, salt, pepper, paprika, box of favorite cereal, flour, rice, potatoes, onions, tomatoes, apples, oranges, grapefruit, bacon, two cans soup, can peaches, package shredded codfish, can tomatoes, package [illegible] soap powder, a pound of cold lamb left from yesterday's dinner, loaf bread and some little cakes."

Katie Understands

"And don't forget to put in a fruit juice squeezer, a can opener, a small sharp paring knife and a measuring cup," I interrupted. "The silver and kitchen utensils are furnished but I want to be sure of those things."

"Oh, I see now," Katie answered me quickly. "Und I fix quick and have dem all ready in leetle box ven you vant dem. Vell, look who here."

Junior and Roderick had burst into the kitchen from the [illegible] outside, huge sheets of paper in their hands and their eyes bulging with excitement.

"Oh, Mums," Junior exclaimed, and "Oh, Aunti Madge," Roderick bellowed, "Lookit! Our lists"—waving them so near my face that I had to draw back to save being scratched by the sharp edges. "We've got 'em all done and we [illegible] our things over [illegible] bungalow and we want [illegible] pack 'em 'cause we right away. We want to get it all done before [illegible]
